September – Month of Korean Martyrs

The Korean Catholic Church has designated September as the Month of Martyrs and honours St's Andrew Kim Taegon, Paul Chong Hasang and Companions on 20 September.

Catholicism began to spread in Korea in the late 18th century in the most unusual fashion: It was introduced by books, not missionaries. The Church in Korea continued without formal missionary priests until clergy from France (the Paris Foreign Missions Society) arrived in 1836. During the 19th century, the Catholic Church was targeted by the government chiefly for the religion's opposition to ancestral worship, which the Church perceived to be a form of idolatry, but which the State prescribed as a cornerstone of Korean culture. About 10,000 of the faithful died as martyrs in persecutions that lasted for more than one hundred years. Among the martyrs was the first Korean priest, Father Andrew Kim Taegon who was canonised by Pope John Paul II in 1984 and 124 were beatified by Pope Francis in 2014.

Koreans also celebrate Chuseok (Korean Thanksgiving Day) on the 15th day of the 8th month of the lunar calendar. In 2016, Chuseok Day falls on 15 September. We believe our ancestors' spirits are still alive and protect the descendants, so we honour them by preparing special foods for them. We visit the tombs of our immediate ancestors to trim plants and clean the area around the tomb, and offer food, drink, and crops to them. It was one of the many issues that the early Korean Christians were persecuted for refusing. However, it was permitted by the Church after Pope Pius XII issued a decree in 1939 that these customs were no longer considered superstitious, but were an honourable way of esteeming one's deceased relatives.

The Korean Community of Wellington celebrates Chuseok during the month of September by giving thanks to our ancestors, especially to our Martyrs as we commemorate those who laid down their lives for the Gospel.

Responsorial Psalm 89

R. In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

You turn men back into dust and say: 'Go back, sons of men.' To your eyes a thousand years are like yesterday, come and gone, no more than a watch in the night. R

You sweep men away like a dream, like grass which springs up in the morning. In the morning it springs up and flowers: by evening it withers and fades. R

Make us know the shortness of our life that we may gain wisdom of heart. Lord, relent! Is your anger for ever? Show pity to your servants. R

In the morning, fill us with your love; we shall exult and rejoice all our days. Let the favour of the Lord be upon us: give success to the work of our hands. R
