

15TH AUGUST 2010 : ASSUMPTION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

In a Marist Parish

With my father coming from Brooklyn, my mother from Blenheim and those parishes at the time being served by Marist priests it was inevitable that I was to receive some Marist colour in my life. Added to that, my great uncle was Fr John O'Connor sm, who served in this parish and my brother Barry is also a Marist Priest (Otaki). I couldn't help but be influenced.

Over the years the spirit of the Society of Mary has come to mean more and more to me. Mary's spirit is of course the spirit of one who was totally devoted to Jesus. The founder of the Marists, Fr John Claude Colin picked two areas of Mary's life on which we could model ourselves; Mary at Nazareth and Mary at Pentecost. However, I've always found Mary at Cana very appealing. She sensitively saw the problem, sent the stewards to Jesus and let them work with him. The spirit of Mary is to guide people to the person of Jesus and allow that relationship to grow.

Someone once said to me that it was a pity there wasn't more about Mary in the Gospels. There certainly isn't much about Mary in early church life. She remained in the background, but supported the apostles and encouraged them in the mission given them. A central task of the Marist is to sustain and help others in furthering the mission of Jesus.

I believe that everybody can be a Marist by leading others to Jesus, and supporting them in the task of spreading Jesus' good news. This is what makes me tick.
